

```
#!/usr/bin/python3
```

abs() will return absolute value of a number

```
print(abs(24.0))
print(abs(-24.0))
```

all()

- will return true if all elements of iterable are true

any()

- will return true if any element is true l = [1, 2, 3, 4, 0] print(all(l)) print(any(l))

ascii()

- will return the printable representation of the object s = "this is a nerd symbol ," print(ascii(s)) print('hart \uf004 ,')

bin()

- converts integer to binary no print(bin(34))

bytearray()

- we can convert immutable object in to mutable object bytearray() will return the mutable object we can use bytearray for lists, strings, tuples